

Samantha McNulty

MasterChef took to the road in search of the best amateur cooks from across the nation for their season three competition. Over 30,000 people from all walks of life participated in their casting call, but only the top 100 were chosen to fly to Los Angeles to vie for the title MasterChef and win $250,000. Among the 100 selected was our very own Samantha McNulty. Samantha is now a senior at Villa Walsh Academy and has a love and passion for cooking. Her signature dish will be presented to the judges Gordon Ramsay, Joe Bastianich and Graham Elliot and will be judged on flavor, originality, and creativity. Samantha's quadrupled tiered carrot cake is among the best! Good luck, Samantha!

In the Fall Samantha will be attending Villanova University. The best of luck to you Samantha!
